CYCLONE DISASTERS

Kansas and Missouri Towns Damaged by Tuesday's Storm

Several Men Missing in the Ruins at Kansas City

Illinois and Indiana Suffer a Similar Experience

The Winds Whirling as Far East as Cincinnati

Some Lives Lost and Much Property Destroyed.

Work of the Cyclone

A TOWN DESTROYED

ROLLA, Mo, May 13.—Report comes from Vichy Springs, [illegible] miles north of Rolla, that the greater portion of that town was destroyed by the storm last night. A majority of the residences and many business blocks were unroofed and almost completely demolished but no lives lost, and only four persons injured and they not seriously.

HAVOC IN KANSAS

MENTOR, Kan, May 12.—At 11 o'clock yesterday [illegible] a cyclone struck the town of Notonville, [illegible] miles southeast of this city, doing an immense amount of damage. A brick block which had just been completed by McCarthy and [illegible] was completely wrecked. The bank building adjoining this was demolished. Many dwelling houses were unroofed and many totally destroyed. Reports from the surrounding country state that the damage to property is very great.

MISSOURI VILLAGES SUFFER

[illegible] JUNCTION, Mo, May 12.—This village suffered severely by yesterday's storm. Houses were removed from their foundations, outbuildings destroyed, fences blown down and great damage done to fruit and shade trees. The glass in the windows of nearly every building in the town exposed to the force of the storm was shattered by hail. No lives were lost.

OSAGE CITY, Mo, May 12.—A violent storm struck this place at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, lasting about an hour and a half, during which time the rain poured in torrents so that within [illegible] minutes from the time it began streets and [illegible] were flooded and covered with water. Fences were torn down, trees uprooted and [illegible] in every direction. In [illegible] two miles south of here [illegible] immense damage [illegible]. Crops in the surrounding country will prove a total loss.

SEARCH AT KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—Search in the ruins of buildings wrecked in yesterday's storm continued until after midnight and was resumed this morning. The bodies of [illegible] children are [illegible] of the [illegible] building, but three men are still missing, who are supposed to have been in the overall factory building. A meeting will be held this afternoon to provide temporary quarters for county and court officials and to decide upon their future action. Records and papers all of which are saved will be removed to one [illegible] building. Western Union telegraph officials report their wires as rapidly repaired and they expect to clear business during the day.

Another Tornado

CHICAGO, May 12.—A Bloomington dispatch says: The Pantagraph's special from Odell says [illegible] At [illegible] p.m. to-day a terrible cyclone struck this village, which demolished [illegible] brick blocks, wrecked three warehouses [illegible] the hotel, Masonic hall and four story building, also the upper story of the [illegible] in which was the Odd Fellows hall [illegible] destroyed. Scarcely a store room [illegible] escaped injury. The loss will amount to [illegible] (00). Houses, barns and sheds were twisted off their foundations, blown down and totally destroyed. Trees a foot in diameter were twisted entirely off. The storm did not last over five minutes.

[illegible] minutes before the storm the air seemed [illegible] green. Two clouds [illegible] one from the southeast and one from the northwest, and met over the town forming a monstrous whirlwind which swept everything in its track. The large livery barn of Herd Bros was completely demolished. A large three story mill was blown from its foundation and ruined. The two-story [illegible] store of [illegible] Cole is a total wreck. The hotel is injured from top to bottom. Not a whole window [illegible] in the building. A number of residences were badly wrecked and as many as seven barns blown to pieces. The streets are filled with the [illegible] board fences, the roofs and prostrated trees. The new school building is badly wrecked. A [illegible] school building [illegible] destroyed. The Congregational church is twisted in bad shape. The Methodist church had its steeple blown off.

LOSS OF LIFE

The fatally injured are: Lottie Zwilde, a [illegible] year old girl, was carried over 200 feet in the air and [illegible] on the railroad track, smashing in her skull. George [illegible], Charles Hecke, livery [illegible] S. S. [illegible] Edwards [illegible] and two children of John Miller are critically hurt. The latter took refuge in the brick building and were buried in the building [illegible] all of whom were supposed to be dangerously injured but two escaped without a scratch. The telegraph wires were all blown down. The residences of [illegible] [illegible] are almost [illegible]. Williams hall is a complete wreck. The damage in the surrounding country [illegible] comparatively slight.

STORY OF A CYCLONE

CHICAGO, May 12.—The Inter Ocean's Joliet, Ills, special says: A most destructive cyclone is reported from Odell, a village 10 miles south of here on the Chicago & Alton this afternoon about [illegible] o'clock. [illegible] Delegates to the state Sabbath school convention returning on the train arriving here at [illegible] state that as the train neared Odell they saw the cyclone approaching. First they saw the roof of the elevator rise and sail off in the air—then the building collapsed. The hotel and houses raised up, tumbled over and over like feathers and were smashed to pieces, both brick and frames, and all sizes from shanties to two story buildings. The train was stopped, but as the wind was blowing parallel with the track it was not upset, though bricks [illegible] broke windows. Considerable time was required to move the debris from the track before the train could proceed. After the cyclone people busied themselves looking under ruined houses for those missing. The train resumed its journey without giving the delegates a chance to [illegible] the casualties, but they report several men, women and children killed and injured. Local telegraph agents have been trying to raise Odell all the evening but cannot succeed and the real loss of life and damage cannot be ascertained.

THE STORM AT JOLIET

[illegible].—One of the severest storms ever known in Joliet struck here about 5:30 this evening. A deluge of rain and hail inundated the streets [illegible] thunder and lightning were deafening and the electric display was unparalleled. A circus was giving a performance. In the midst of the performance the storm struck the tent and turned the whole show upside down. Men screamed, animals howled and a general stampede ensued, amid sheets of lightning, drenching rain and resistless air. Three persons were seriously injured by falling poles and a number were hurt slightly.

TELEGRAPH WIRES DEMORALIZED

CHICAGO, May 12.—All wires leading east from Chicago have been badly demoralized to-night by storms at Lafayette, Indianapolis, Winamac and Logansport. At Cincinnati a cyclone is reported which has cut the city off from telegraphic communication on all sides.

THE HURRICANE IN INDIANA

INDIANAPOLIS, May 12.—[illegible] Associated press from Williamsport, Ind, says: A cyclone struck this place this evening, destroying everything in its track. Several houses and barns in the north end of town were carried away. It seemed to have formed about two miles northwest of town and took a southwesterly direction, traveling about [illegible]0 miles an hour, striking the extreme north end of this place.

Reports from Attica, about two miles east of here, say that it struck that place about the center of town and destroyed several of of the business buildings, including a new mill, the Revere House and the Chicago & Southern railroad office. A wagon bridge over the Wabash river was torn down. Several persons were on the bridge at the time it went down and all are supposed to have been drowned. At the Revere House several are reported to be killed. At this place two brick houses belonging to Perry [illegible] were torn down and Mrs [illegible] was badly injured. Aside from her people of this place escaped injury.

THE STORM IN OHIO

DAYTON, May 12.—A fearful storm visited this city this evening, commencing at [illegible] and is still in progress (10 p.m.). The electrical display was decidedly brilliant and the rainfall very heavy, flooding the cellars in various parts of the city, particularly among [illegible] Main [illegible] [illegible] Third and Fourth [illegible] will [illegible] thousand dollars. The storm was [illegible] by a heavy fall of hail, which lasted about ten minutes. The hail stones were very large and solid and great damage was done to windows, shrubbery, flowers and fruits.

Sugar Men's Strike Ended

NEW YORK, May 12.—The strike of sugar refiners in Brooklyn has ended. The strikers surrendered unconditionally and have asked for work. Those who are taken back will be paid $1 [illegible] per day instead of $1 [illegible] as formerly. The hours of labor will be more reasonable and payments will be made twice a month. What the men struck for practically was recognition of the right of their union to dictate terms and they have failed.

A Great Lockout Threatened

CHICAGO, May 12.—An extensive lockout of striking tailors is to-night to be inaugurated by the association of clothing manufacturers and wholesale dealers to-morrow. A general lockout in this branch of industry means that 20,000 to 25,000 sewing people, men and women, will be denied work. Employers are resolved that it will continue till the strikers withdraw the demand that they have made for [illegible]. A large meeting of the association of manufacturers was held to-night and all members including thirty one firms pledged themselves to give out no more work till the strikers recede from their present position. It is claimed by employers that the demands of the employes, who all work by the piece, represent an advance of from [illegible] per cent.

[illegible]

[illegible], May 12.—[illegible] at this point [illegible] [illegible] ordered by [illegible] Men [illegible] have been at work [illegible] to get day [illegible] Wabash [illegible] have come out. Men on other roads remained at their posts. [illegible] of the [illegible] express [illegible] to go to work to-night, and [illegible] arranged for a meeting [illegible] with their men this afternoon. Business has not been perceptibly interfered with and no further trouble is apprehended [illegible] adjust all difficulties.

Herr Most in a Cell

NEW YORK, May 12.—Herr Most spent part of last night in a cell at police headquarters bitterly denouncing the police for his arrest. He called for brandy repeatedly, but it was not given him. This morning he stormed because he had to wipe his face after washing on a common towel and [illegible]. He was to-day taken to a photograph gallery and pictured. A copy will be sent to the police of all large cities, as is done with bad criminals. Herr Most was taken to court and arraigned to plead to the indictment found against him by the grand jury.

Parsons Wanted in Chicago

CHICAGO, May 12.—The following circular with a picture of Parsons has been sent out to the police in all principal cities and towns:

Arrest for murder and inciting riot A. R. Parsons, about 35 or 40 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, slim build, 140 pounds weight, dark hair tinged with gray, dark moustache and dyed black. Known throughout the country as a socialist and anarchist and one of the leaders and incendiary orators who caused the riot and massacre in Chicago on Tuesday night, May 4th.

FREDERICK F. EBERSOLD,
General Superintendent of Police.

English Politics

LONDON, May 12.—Ministerialists say important concessions will be announced in the house of commons to-morrow to amend the bill and it is said provide for full representation of Ireland in the British parliament to vote on foreign questions, budget, customs and excise measures. Radical seceders will be contented with nothing short of regular representation of Ireland. Lord Hartington is ready to form any ministry of moderates. Lord Salisbury promised his support although no conservatives will join Lord Hartington's cabinet. It is expected Goschen will join Lord Hartington but Chamberlain will hold aloof. Gladstone's supporters threaten to bring about dissolution of parliament but it is certain the queen would refuse her assent to dissolution under the present prospect of defeat of the home rule bill.

Chamberlain's Objections

LONDON, May 12.—A political meeting was held at the residence of Joseph Chamberlain to-day. Sixty members of the house of commons were present. Chamberlain explained the renewal of his activity against the Irish home rule bill by saying he had been clearly informed last Saturday that the premier was prepared to expunge from his measure the clause excluding Irish representatives from sitting at Westminster and thus maintain the unity of the empire as desired by the radicals. Chamberlain declared that nothing short of withdrawing of the home rule bill would restore unity among the liberals. The meeting unanimously adopted resolutions declaring that those present would do their utmost in their power to oppose the government Irish bills as there was no hope that the measures would be amended in a way to make them acceptable to the followers of Chamberlain.

Endorsing Gladstone

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Metropolitan hall was filled to-night with influential citizens called together to give expression to their sentiments on Gladstone's home rule bill. Governor Stoneman presided. Resolutions were adopted endorsing Gladstone's efforts to give home rule to Ireland. The full text of the resolutions was cabled to Gladstone to-night.

Mexican Land Grants

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Senator Ransom from the committee on private land claims reported favorably the Edmunds bill to give to United States courts power of ascertaining and settling private land claims in the limits of the territory derived by the United States from the republic of Mexico and now embraced in the territories of New Mexico, Wyoming, Arizona and Utah or within the states of Nevada or Colorado by virtue of such lawful Spanish or Mexican grant, concession warrant or survey as the United States are bound to recognize and confirm by virtue of the treaties of cession of said country by Mexico to the United States which at the date of the passage of this act have not been confirmed by act of congress or otherwise fully decided.

The Killing of Captain Crawford

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The secretary of state has received a preliminary report from Consul Brigham at El Paso del Norte, Mexico, in regard to the killing of Captain Crawford by Mexican soldiers. He says there is no way of obtaining definite information, owing to the absence of witnesses to the tragedy, but it is conceded on both sides that the attack was made by irregular Mexican troops, employed by the state of Chihuahua through an unfortunate accident without [illegible]. He says further that depredations committed by Indians in Mexico nurtured by the United States is a grievance that cannot very well be overlooked. The circumstances attending the affair are being investigated by the Mexican authorities.

Rosecrans' Defense

WASHINGTON, May 12.—General Rosecrans has written to the committee [illegible] a written statement in answer to the charge that he has [illegible] with certain alleged land frauds [illegible]. He denies [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] laws [illegible] [illegible] by the courts. [illegible] [illegible] 500 [illegible] the vicinity of Los Angeles.

Presidential Nominations

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate to-day: John [illegible] to be collector of customs for the district of Yaquina, Oregon; [illegible] at Eugene City, Oregon; [illegible] at The Dalles, Oregon; [illegible] at Telluride, Colorado.

The Congress

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—In the senate to-day [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] diplomats [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible]. The concurrent resolution was referred to the committee on foreign relations.

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The inter-state commerce bill having been considered as [illegible] the question was on agreeing to the amendments reported to the bill. A protracted debate was brought up on various amendments [illegible] to the long and short haul clause.

Mr Riddleberger moved to lay the bill on the table. This motion was defeated—yeas 1 (Mr Riddleberger), nays 54.

Edmunds moved to rescind the long and short clause the words struck out by the Camden amendment, namely "from the same original point of departure" and to add to these the further words "or to the same point of arrival."

Mr Teller defended the low rate for the long haul.

Mr Edmunds' amendment was [illegible] rejected, yeas [illegible], nays 24, but Mr [illegible] also offered [illegible] was agreed to, yeas [illegible], nays [illegible]

McPherson moved to strike out section 4, being the long and short haul section and to replace it by a provision directing commissioners to investigate the question involved and to report to congress. The proposition was rejected, yeas [illegible], nays [illegible]

Morgan offered an amendment declaring the proposed commissioners to be elective officers merely, and denying the legislative and judicial powers. This was rejected.

The bill then came to a vote and was passed, yeas 47, nays 4. The negative votes were those of Brown, Colquitt, Morgan and [illegible]. A number of pairs were announced.

The bankruptcy bill was then laid before the senate but Hoar yielded in favor of the pension bill which later accordingly remains unfinished business for [illegible] o'clock to-morrow. The senate then adjourned.

HOUSE.

Messages from the president yesterday presented to the senate were to-day submitted to the house and appropriately referred.

In the morning Belmont called up the joint resolution providing indemnity to certain Chinese subjects for loss sustained within the jurisdiction of the United States. The resolution was considered in committee of the whole. Belmont gave the history of the Chinese massacre at Rock Springs, Wyoming. None of the persons in the outrage appeared to be American citizens. Rock Springs consisted of two settlements, one inhabited by Welshmen and Swedes, the other by Chinese, all receiving the same rate of pay. For eight years white and Chinese miners had lived peaceably. Last summer a strike was attempted to be organized by the white miners in which the Chinese refused to take part. The evidence was clear and satisfactory that no offence of any kind was given. On the second of September white miners to the number of 150 [illegible] with rifles and [illegible] attacked [illegible] the defenceless Chinamen [illegible] and [illegible] and burning and [illegible]. By the passage of this resolution the United States would express its sympathy with the victims of a wrong that the United States could not prevent nor foresee. [illegible] clear that the results of [illegible] had only to be made known to [illegible] with the condemnation which it merited. All considerations as to responsibility of the federal government in its relation to state and territorial jurisdiction should be waived in the performance of plain duty.

[illegible] of California thought that if the committee on foreign affairs had expended its time in the examination of the causes under which these outrages arise, if it had looked into the history of the past it would have found the outrages were the natural result of the Chinese immigration. The committee should have addressed its attention to remedying the evil rather than to palliating and paying for scenes like this.

Morrow of California said that standing alone the measure was of doubtful propriety but considering the relations between China and the United States and for further legislation and for a treaty stipulation absolutely prohibiting the immigration of Chinese subjects, he was disposed to think that the benevolence of congress might be an act of wisdom. The whole affair at Rock Springs had been disgraceful in the extreme and could not be excused nor ignored. The most that could be said was that no citizen of the United States were [illegible] but that did not right the wrong which had been committed on American soil. Our national fame was involved. The question arose, why did the federal government assume the obligations of the local and territorial community? His answer was that no obligations were assumed, but because local authorities had failed to observe the laws, the United States would under the [illegible] instances of the [illegible] at [illegible] satisfy the claimants. The people of the United States [illegible] the people of the Pacific coast, were deeply concerned [illegible] relations between the United States and China. [illegible] [illegible] that the immigration of Chinese [illegible] lately came. He was [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to secure the consent of China to put a supplementary [illegible]

McKenna of California expressed his horror of the outrages perpetrated at Rock Springs. He [illegible] [illegible] the victims but it was not clear to him that [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] notwithstanding it was [illegible] by arson and murder, [illegible] the grandest [illegible] members that there were other [illegible] [illegible] benevolence [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] indemnity to victims of this riot why not the victims of every other riot. If this resolution was passed congress could have no reason to refuse to requite the victims of the Chicago riot. If the amount appropriated was intended to be strict remuneration for lost property the committee should have taken means to ascertain if it was the proper amount. He had been credibly informed that [illegible] Springs only [illegible] worth of property was assessed against the Chinese.

[illegible] Hitt denied that the resolution [illegible] precedent. On the contrary [illegible] would be a departure from the settled line of policy and would be a violation of national honor. He cited numerous cases in which the United States had demanded and received from China indemnity for injuries and insults perpetrated on American citizens.

Worthington of Illinois favored the resolution. The United States boasted that it was [illegible] [illegible] was on a plane of civilization higher than China. It sent missionaries to heathen China. Should it be said that the United States would refuse that indemnity to China which China had already made to the United States in similar cases? He was willing to base his action on the broad principle of equity.

Pending further discussion the morning hour expired, the committee rose and the house again went into committee on the army appropriation bill.

Mr Rockwell of Massachusetts moved to increase from $300,000 to $400,000 the appropriation for the manufacture of arms at Springfield armory.

The motion was agreed to, [illegible] to [illegible]. The committee then rose. The house by a vote of [illegible] to [illegible] refused to agree to the Springfield armory amendment, thus reversing the action of the committee, and the bill was passed.

The house then went into committee of the whole on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill.

Morrison, of Illinois, moved that the appropriation for steam launch for the legation at [illegible] be reduced to $1000. The motion was lost 55 to 57.

Pending further action the committee rose and the house adjourned.

The Markets

NEW YORK, May 12.—Money on call easy at 2 [illegible] prime mercantile paper [illegible] to [illegible], sterling exchange dull, steady, posted rates 4 86 [illegible] for 60 days, 4 89 [illegible] demand, government bonds dull but firm. There was an unusual dearth of news affecting the price of stocks. The market opened somewhat irregular but the wide difference was [illegible] in favor of higher prices. Prices continued to advance throughout the afternoon and final figures are either at or close to the highest prices of the day.

The Mail and Express says: Mining shares were quiet but strong. Savage sold at 1 0[illegible], Sierra Nevada 8, Sutro [illegible] and 12, Bulwer 1 [illegible] to 1 [illegible]0, Gould & Curry 10, Hale & Norcross [illegible], La Crosse 9, American 40, Eureka assessment paid 2 10, Silver King 7½, Belle Isle 16, Stormont 15.

The Grecian Crisis

ATHENS, May 12.—M. Papamichalopoulos, who was summoned to form a new ministry, declined because the King insisted that it should be only temporary, with the object of enabling the summoning of the chamber. The King then summoned M. Valvis. A ministry was formed and the chamber will probably be convoked in ten days in order that the decision touching disarmament by the ministry may be ratified. The new ministry is as follows: M. Valvis, premier and minister of justice, General Petmisas, war, M. Miaoulis, marine, M. Lourlotis, foreign affairs, M. Avlichos, finance, M. Ventilos, education, M. Papailiopoulos, interior. The trade of the country for the present is paralyzed and the blockade of the ports continues until a stable government can be formed and Greece defers to the wishes of the powers.

A Telegraph Deal

MONTREAL, May 12.—The stock of the Montreal Telegraph company bounded up about 7 per cent to-day on the strength of certain rumors. One report was that the Canadian Pacific had assumed the Western Union's lease of the Montreal & Dominion Telegraph company's line and that the monopoly of telegraph business in Canada would be held by the Canadian Pacific. Another rumor was that pooling arrangements had been entered into between the Canadian Pacific and the Western Union. All information that can be got from Canadian Pacific officials on the subject is that their company desires to work harmoniously with all competitors.

American Exhibition in London

CHICAGO, May 12.—The Hon E. B. Washburn of Chicago has accepted the presidency of the American Exhibition to be held in London commencing May 2, 1887, and to continue two months. The presidency was tendered to Mr Washburn by the executive council. The object of the exhibition is to make in London a thorough and complete exposition of the art, inventions, manufactures, products and resources of the United States to the end that the American export trade may be [illegible].

Short and Sharp

NEW YORK, May 12.—There was a [illegible] [illegible] to-night between Dick Collier of England and [illegible] Ashton of [illegible]. [illegible] [illegible] Ashton rushed [illegible] [illegible] that Collier was groggy before the first round was half over. He was [illegible] into the ropes and knocked down. Only a call for time saved Collier from being knocked out in the first round.

English Canvassing Experiences

North American Review.

At one cottage I found the man at home, and he said roughly, "No liberals have been sending ladies to canvass." "No one has been sending me, but are you offended with me for calling, to see you about your vote?" "No," he said, "but Mr A— (the conservative candidate) won't give us the cheap loaf." "You are mistaken, for he must follow the leaders of his party in this matter, and they are pledged not to do anything to raise the price of bread." "Well, I heard him speak in a barn near [illegible] wood outside, and he said some odd things." "Perhaps, as you were outside, you misunderstood him." "No, I heard him say working men ought not to have votes." "That I am sure he never said, as you have votes and he was asking you for them. Do you think he would be such an idiot as to say such a thing?" However, he pretended still to believe it and went to his dinner very sulkily. A man said to another lady canvasser in the same constituency: "The conservative candidate said that a red herring and bread was good enough for poor people. I hope he will have to eat it himself." She answered: "You must be mistaken, I am quite sure he never said anything of the kind." "I heard him myself. Am I not to believe what I hear with my own ears?" "Not always. You must have misunderstood, as I am confident he never said such a thing." He turned away saying: "I don't want to talk to you any more." This lady made some remark to the driver of her fly, who was standing near, and he said, "That man told me a different tale before you came up, he said some one had told him that the blue candidate had said it." When [illegible] canvassed they sometimes declared that they had heard Mr A— say, "Barley bread was good enough for laborers." One got tired of denying over and over again the most unlikely and ridiculous stories about his speeches and opinions and it was very evident, as time went on, that great pains had been taken to spread these accounts, and that nothing was too bad or absurd for the laborers to believe. Their slow minds having been imbued with distrust and antagonism, they were glad to make excuses to themselves for opposing their landlords and employers in every way. If the conservative candidate had been well known in that part of the county, no one would have been taken in by such stories. Over and over again the cottagers said, "We heard that Mr A— is against the poor." It was extremely aggravating to hear these outrageous falsehoods and to feel that once having entered their heads it would take a long time to batter them out again. But in time it will be done, and, like other classes of voters, they will learn who are their true friends.

Librarian Spofford

"Mr Spofford," says the Washington correspondent of the Cleveland Leader, "has been librarian of congress for over twenty years, and he has seen the library grow from 20,000 to more than 500,000 books. Every literary man in the country knows Mr Spofford. He is a short, wiry man, with a face as dark as that of any diplomat in Washington. He has black hair and whiskers mixed with gray. His eyes are like jet, and he has a way of looking into yours that shows he means business when he talks. He is the busiest man in Washington and never has an idle minute. He walks fast, talks fast, and forces others to help him in his work. He never writes himself what he can just as well dictate, and does not allow his energies to be wasted on what clerks could do as well. He does a prodigious amount of literary labor, has always several different articles on hand, and turns out many things for encyclopedias, magazines, and books. I sometimes ride home with him from the capitol. He is very methodical, and at a certain hour each day a wiry, dark faced man may be seen going out of the senate entrance of the capitol carrying in his hand a green bag which is fastened by a draw-string. This bag has many angles and is apparently filled with books. The wiry, dark-faced man carries it with him into the herdic, then bunches himself up into a corner, and taking a book or pamphlet out of it, reads away throughout the long ride to Scott Circle. Here he puts his book back into his bag, and alighting walks to a fine house on Massachusetts avenue and enters. It is Mr Spofford. He owns this house, and lives just next to Justice Harlan on one of the best streets in the city. Mr Spofford is now sixty years old. He is a man of many friendships, and his favorite amusement is in the rides which he and George Bancroft take every Sunday."

English Time.

An American in England was badgered by some cockneys, who bragged over the speed of their railway cars, which "often run a mile a minute."

"Why, that's nothing," said the Yankee. "Last summer I was on one of our trains with an English traveler, who got mad with a man at a station when he went up the road, and now he stood on the platform with a club to hit the man. He raised and brought it down at the man. But he had timed his blow by your English railway speed, and he knocked down a man at a station seven miles further on!"

Most of the socialists have ceased their desires for martyrdom in the last week.

Herr Most should be kept on gruel diet for some time longer. If he does not get his brandy and soda he may become less belligerent.

It is fortunate that the Greek with the long name did not accept the head of the ministry. If every one who addressed him spoke his name, it would leave little time for official business.

Yesterday some one violated the ordinance on irrigation by opening one of the gates on Nevada avenue and turning the water down the avenue. It was not watched and as a result overflowed the ditch and damaged the street and sidewalks. We hope he will be caught.

IRRIGATION.

We call special attention to the city notice about irrigation published elsewhere. At the present time the committee on irrigation is trying very hard to distribute the water all over the city. We think that the effort will be a success, but it will be necessary that the ordinance on irrigation, a part of which is quoted in the notice, should be cheerfully and promptly complied with by all who wish water. The committee is giving a good deal of time to its work and shows a conscientious desire to give our city the best possible conveniences for irrigation. The members are just now receiving a good deal of unfair criticism. In most cases the fault lies with the critics themselves. Considering the intelligent attention given to this subject already, thanks, not fault finding, should be the reward.

Those who were here in 1877 and 1878 will remember the difficulties we had in irrigation. Then we had the same facilities as now but none of the large houses were built in the northern part of the city. There was hardly one good lawn where there are twenty now. Yet the southern part of the city could with difficulty get any water then. Everybody could tap the ditch and get water whenever it was flowing. As a result the people were very poorly provided with water. Usually the selfish people got it. It was quite customary for people to sit up till long after midnight to open their neighbors' gates and get water on their lawns. There was no system or justice in the distribution. The most selfish and those who sat up latest at night got the most water.

Since then continual efforts have been made to put some system into our methods of irrigating. Great advance was made by the council elected in 1883 and especially by the last one. Last year there was a fairer distribution than ever before. The council a few weeks ago amended the ordinances regarding this subject. The changes were all based on experience. The ordinances are not perfect yet, but they propose a feasible system by which every land holder in the city shall receive his equal share. The chief points in this ordinance are the following:

First. Experience has shown that it is necessary that irrigating shall be done by men in the employ of the city. When private individuals are allowed to take water, it has been found that those in the northern part of the city receive more than their share. There is also constant interference with the gates which not only leads to overflowing the ditches, but also prevents many getting enough water to irrigate their lawns. Unless a man is a pig, he will prefer the city officials to have absolute charge of the distribution of the water. The prohibition of all men not in the employ of the city from turning water into their own premises or interfering with the gates should be enforced and have the moral support of all citizens. The man who takes water now is stealing it from his neighbors, because the city officials give him his share. This should be considered mean and disreputable like sheep stealing.

Second. It has been carefully estimated that if irrigation is to be given frequently to every house lot, not more than fifteen minutes should be given to irrigating every frontage of 50 feet.

Third. If this is to be done by city officials, it is necessary that the irrigation of every fifty feet should be limited in time to fifteen minutes not simply to get over the city promptly, but to save the time of city employes.

Fourth. It has been carefully estimated that a box from the main ditch sixteen inches wide and eight inches deep is necessary to give a fair irrigation of the fifty feet in fifteen minutes. Some have complained that they do not have their lawns properly irrigated in the fifteen minutes. Inquiries have shown that all such complainers have not complied with the ordinance in the size of their boxes. In an instance yesterday it was found that the box was only four inches wide and half full of mud at that. It must seem reasonable to our readers that the above box should be put in and that no one should complain of not getting enough water in fifteen minutes [illegible] has complied with the ordinance.

We have carefully [illegible] the new plan [illegible] succeed. We think most of our readers will think the ordinance reasonable and will cheerfully and promptly comply with it. If it is found that lawns cannot [illegible] ditch by boxes sixteen inches wide and eight inches deep cannot be well [illegible] in fifteen minutes, then the ordinance will probably be amended. We hope that new boxes will be immediately put in where the old ones are too small. We [illegible] that all who meddle with gates or steal water will be promptly and severely punished. Neither grumbling nor faultfinding will do any good. The mayor and committee on irrigation consisting of Messrs. Lawton, Sullivan and Hinchbaugh have given in the last two weeks substantial evidence of their desire to do the best possible work for the city, both in the time that has been devoted to this work and their intelligent action. It is not fair to assume that it is their fault or the fault of the ordinance if every thing does not go smoothly. It is far more reasonable to assume that it [illegible]. It is our opinion that this committee [illegible] carried the [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] smoothly.

Paganini

Temple Bar

About Paganini so many strange tales have been told that one never knows what to believe. He disappeared for three years, not from the world, but from the public platform. He reappeared with a quantity of duets for violin and guitar, and although a man of such skill on both instruments might in the common course of composition have written duets for his two chosen instruments, there is generally accredited [illegible] that he spent three years in the [illegible] retirement and secrecy with a lady who played the guitar to perfection, and that he wrote all these duets for her, or to speak more correctly, for their mutual performance. An interesting [illegible] relation in Paganini's life belongs to this period. He had gambled again and again lost everything, and he was offering to sell his violin estimated at [illegible] to an amateur for £50. But on the point of accepting he discovered in his waistcoat pocket [illegible] with which he thought he would for yet once more try his luck. How many such "last times" gamblers try to be sure. He lost all his money down to a half crown, with which he won, played 11 times after each other quitte ou double, and 11 times he won. Then he took up £500 he had gained [illegible] never touched a card any more. In Ferrara his life was in danger. A singer, Marcolini, disappointed him at the last moment, and the whim seized him to ask a dancer whom he knew, a Signora Pallerini, to fill the [illegible] between his solos with a pas seul. She pleased the audience, but suddenly a [illegible] was heard from the gallery. Paganini went on, announced that he would give imitations of different animals which he did with great cleverness, particularly the nightingale, when just as he was about finishing he advanced to the footlights and said: "Questo e per quelli che han fischiato" (that is for the whistlers) at the same time, with all possible coarseness following a high note with a low one several times, and distinctly producing [illegible] haw hee haw." The Ferrarese peasants, who filled the gallery, taking this as an insult to them, [illegible] down to a [illegible] over the orchestra [illegible] to the stage, so that flight by the back door and immediate departure from Ferrara was the only means to save Paganini from the infuriated mob. He [illegible] to play before [illegible] [illegible] sister of Napoleon [illegible] his chanterelle (the E string) [illegible]. Whether by accident or his own design, the A broke [illegible] this, and he played so wonderfully on the two remaining strings a duet between two lovers that the princess said to him: "You do such incredible things, Mr. Paganini, with two strings; [illegible] I am [illegible] sorry that the D string didn't give way too so as to leave you only one string. I should like to see what it is possible even for a sorcerer like you to do on the G alone." "Qu'a cela ne tienne," said Paganini with the greatest equanimity, and he calmly took the D off and began his famous variations on the Prayer of Moses on the G alone. It is useless to try and give a description of the amazement, not to say stupefaction, of his hearers at this unparalleled feat and of the admiration which followed the first surprise, when they saw what a man's hand could do with one string. True it was that man's hand.

A Story of Salmon

Philadelphia Press

One evening W. J. Florence, the actor, was in the club room telling of his exploits on a salmon river in New Brunswick. "How many salmon did you catch?" a visitor inquired.

Florence nearly fell from his chair at the ignorance displayed in the question. "Fishermen, sir," said he, with freezing hauteur, "never use the word catch as you apply it. They kill salmon. They never catch them."

The rebuked listener turned scarlet but made no response. A moment afterward Lawrence Jerome, the father of Lady Randolph Churchill and an excellent story teller, began to talk of adventures on a salmon stream. He was describing himself as standing on a bank at daybreak whipping [illegible] over the water, when he [illegible].

"I was so excited," he said, "that I dropped my slung shot in the water and lost the fish."

"Dropped what?" Florence asked in open-eyed astonishment.

"My slungshot," Jerome replied.

"Why, what could you do with a [illegible] at such a time?" Florence inquired.

"Last thing in the world to kill a salmon with," Jerome said, going right on with his story while everybody roared.

Cleanliness is Next to Godliness

Few people know the reference of [illegible] familiar quotations. [illegible] a Providence, R. I., reporter started [illegible] to find the origin of "Cleanliness is next to Godliness." Several statesmen were interviewed and they all declared that it was in the Bible. A military man was positive that it first appeared in a soap advertisement. The secretary of state thought it was in Corinthians. A sporting man said he had seen it in the Marquis of Queensberry rules. A distinguished general credited Shakespeare with it. A preacher [illegible] somewhere in the New Testament. [illegible] [illegible] God knows who was the author. I don't. Finally a colored [illegible] man was spoken to and he [illegible] [illegible]. The reporter was amazed. He looked into the matter, and in the ninth edition of "Bartlett's Familiar Quotations" found the following: "Cleanliness is indeed next to godliness. Sermon on dress, John Wesley, 1760." So the negro [illegible] was better posted than the governor, the statesman, and all the other big men.

COLORADO METEOROLOGICAL ASSOCIATION.

Weather Report for the Week from April 29 to May 5 Inclusive.

At the beginning of this week (Thursday April 29) the barometer was high throughout Colorado, and a decline took place until May 1st, followed by a rise on the 2d. A very gradual diminution of pressure ensued, continuing till near the end of the week, but on May 5th the barometer was again rising. In the central part of the state, the pressure was above the average height on every day of the week except May 1.

The special feature of the week has been the small amount of precipitation. The majority of stations report no rainfall whatever, and where any occurred it was slight in amount and local in extent, and confined to one of the three days May 2 to 4 inclusive.

The D. & R. G. bulletin shows rain at one station (Veta Pass) on the 2d.

Those interested in the success of the association will be glad to notice the increase in the number of observers from whose records the following tables are compiled. Further increase is expected soon. All persons who are willing to take regular notes of the weather are invited to assist the association, and on communication with the undersigned, at Colorado Springs, will be furnished with blank forms for observations, and all needed information. No instrumental outfit beyond a thermometer and a cheap rain gauge is demanded and even the latter is not essential.

Sunday School Association.

To the Sunday School Workers in Colorado, Greeting:

It gives the officers of your state organization pleasure to formally announce that our next annual convention will be held in Colorado Springs, June 22 to 24, 1886. The date is made unusually late to accommodate the vast number of Sunday school workers engaged in our colleges and public schools. An elaborate and most practical programme has been prepared, embracing the most vital topics of organization and evangelization and providing large space for practical discussions. We seek to make this the best convention of a famous series. We would like an enrollment of 400 workers at the state meeting. Let county and township conventions be held meanwhile in every part of the state. Most fraternally,

H. B. CHAMBERLAIN, President.
J. G. COWDEN, Secretary.

Grove Park!

The project to establish a summer resort after the order of Ocean Grove, Martha's Vineyard and Chautauqua, within a mile south of Palmer Lake, is an assured success. Those should subscribe who want to see it made a success, because of the opportunity it will offer for the holding all kinds of religious assemblies in a most charming place, free from the adverse influences which obtain at most established towns. Those should subscribe who want to take advantage of the low rates at which the lots are now held. Those subscribing $100 will constitute the first class, and be entitled to five first-class lots in a group. Others will be entitled to one first class lot for each $100 subscribed, while those subscribing $75 and $50 each will be entitled, respectively to a second or third-class lot. The money so put down will be conscientiously used in laying out streets, erecting the auditorium, hotel, rustic summer houses, and fountains, and in arranging walks, drives, water service, drainage, etc. The Supervisory Board consists of Dean Hart (Episcopal), Dr. De La Matyr (Methodist Episcopal), Dr. Cameron (Baptist), Dr. Reed (Congregationalist), Rev. E. P. Wells (Presbyterian), Rev. W. Bayard Craig (Christian), and Rev. G. W. Rose (United Brethren). The Executive Committee consists of R. H. Gilmore, President; F. A. Williams, Vice President; H. B. Chamberlin, Secretary; Granville Malcolm, Treasurer; W. Finlay Thompson, Sanitary and Park commissioner. Subscriptions are payable, 10 per cent cash, 10 per cent monthly. Mr. Channing Sweet came in from the south on the Salt Lake express last night.

Mrs. J. C. Helm who has been visiting her parents in this city returned to Denver yesterday.

June wheat fell lower in the market yesterday than it has at any time this season of the year since 1862.

Bacon & Carr had their new 'bus drawn by a fine span of horses upon the streets for the first time yesterday.

Cook's excursion party will leave New York on May 20th, arriving in Denver on May 26th. The party will visit Manitou and Colorado Springs.

The colored folks had a sociable little dance in the city hall last night and seemed to be enjoying themselves, as they always do on such occasions.

A certificate of the incorporation of the Enterprise Ditch company by J. H. Shumate and others was filed at the county clerk's office yesterday.

Read the notice issued by the mayor and city council in another column in relation to the distribution of water from the ditches for irrigation purposes.

There will be a big time at the opening of the Manitou rink this evening. Good music will be furnished and a number will be in attendance from this city.

Mr. F. B. Semple, of the Burlington & Missouri, was in the city yesterday. He has gained 22 pounds since he was here last time and now weighs 225 pounds.

Messrs. Henry Youngs, G. W. Thorne and H. A. Wilson have gone to Wagon Wheel Gap on a fishing trip with the expectation of remaining away about two weeks.

Mr. John Lennox was engaged yesterday in carting large loads of furniture from the depot to his new store in the Carpenter block. Look out for a big display in a few days.

City Engineer Reid was engaged yesterday afternoon in establishing a grade for the new flag pavement in front of the Wanless block, both on Pike's Peak avenue and Tejon street.

Complaints are being made about the distribution of irrigation water, but the committee on irrigation are hard at work and hope to have all difficulties removed as soon as possible.

The executive committee of the Sixth District Cattle Growers' association at a recent meeting decided to issue new brand books. All members are earnestly solicited to send in their brands as soon as possible.

It was W. E. Sheridan's and Louise Davenport's intention to leave for Australia the latter part of April, but being warm admirers of Miss Alsberg and Mr. Morrison's abilities, offered to appear conjointly with them during their present tour. Mr. Sheridan's "Duke" in "Measure for Measure," and his "Posthumus" in "Cymbeline" are pronounced equal to anything he has ever done. His many admirers in Colorado Springs are preparing a welcome becoming so great an artist at the opera house next Monday evening.

Mr. C. E. Aiken returned from Elizabeth on the Denver & New Orleans yesterday where he has been looking after business interests for two weeks past. He was there at the time that Robert Wright was shot by Miss Alice Burns, on Monday.

Messrs. A. D. Craigue & Co. are working up an immense business and selling quantities of goods every day. At the present rate that they are being disposed of Mr. Craigue says they will have to have another six or eight car shipment in a short time.

Mr. James McLean has concluded to name the restaurant which he has opened on Pike's Peak avenue between Tejon street and Cascade avenue, the St. Elmo. "Jim," as he is familiarly known, is an excellent caterer and knows how to serve up a good meal.

Mr. Samuel Thall, the business manager of the Alsberg-Sheridan-Morrison combination, was in the city yesterday arranging for the appearance of the company here on Monday, May 17th. Mr. Thall promises us one of the best treats in the Shakespearean line that we have had for a long time.

Rev. G. E. Merrill, pastor of the Baptist church, will deliver the memorial sermon to G. A. R. Post No. 22, on Sunday evening, May 23rd. The post, under the escort of company A, will march to the Baptist church in a body taking with them to the church by request their colors and color guard.

The indications are that there will be a large audience at the entertainment to be given in the opera house to-morrow evening for the benefit of the free reading room. There is no reason why the house should not be crowded as the price of admission is only fifty cents, reserved seats 75 cents. Tickets can be procured at Duncan Bell's or at the Consolidated stationery store.

The Shakespearean event of the season will be the appearance of Miss Celia Alsberg, supported by W. E. Sheridan, Lewis Morrison and a very strong dramatic company in Shakespeare's historic play "Measure for Measure." They will appear at the opera house next Monday evening. The sale of reserved seats will begin at Bell's drug store Saturday morning.

Some time during Wednesday night the house of Mr. Pierson on Cascade avenue just south of Cucharas street was entered by a burglar and several rings and other articles of jewelry that were lying on a table in the sitting room were stolen. Entrance was effected through a window, and exit made through the front door, which was left open. Mr. and Mrs. Pierson did not discover that the house had been entered until yesterday morning. The impression is that the burglar expected to make a bigger haul but was frightened away before he had accomplished much. There is no clue or suspicion as to who the thief is.

Below we give the complete programme of the entertainment to be given at the opera house on Tuesday night and Saturday afternoon for the benefit of the free reading room:

Tableau...............On the Grand Canal of Venice

The city council's committee on water works made a report to the committee on ordinances yesterday recommending that an ordinance be drawn up and passed at the next meeting of the council embodying the following: That the city be divided into two districts for irrigating purposes; that part of the city lying north of Pike's Peak avenue to be District No. 1, and south of Pike's Peak avenue to be No. 2. That district No. 1 have use of water for sprinkling, etc., on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and district No. 2 on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays; that the hours be from 5 a. m. to 6 p. m., and that the whole city have the privilege of using the water on Sundays from 5 to 8 a. m. Also that the penalty for neglect to shut off water during a use be $25. The proposed plan will have 330 taps in district No. 1 and 344 in district No. 2. Superintendent Frost says that the reservoir now fills up and begins to overflow about 11 a. m., and water is wasted to 5 p. m.

It is worth remembering that nobody enjoys the nicest surroundings if in bad health. There are miserable people about to-day with one foot in the grave, to whom a bottle of Parker's Tonic would do more good than all the doctors and medicines they have ever used. dsutwl-13-1y.

We are now ready for business. We are not the oldest, but the youngest house in town, therefore our goods are the newest and freshest. We have the largest and most complete stock ever brought to this city. Our fancy goods are equal in quality and quantity to any house in the state. They consist of all the fine domestic and imported goods put up for the trade. We have come here to stay and for the purpose of building up a large wholesale and retail trade. Our former reputation in this city for selling goods cheap and on closer margins than anybody is we think all that it is necessary for us to say on that point. At least those who will call and examine our stock and get our prices will be convinced of the truth of what we say. Our clerks will be courteous and attentive and glad to show you through our stock whether you buy or not. We will guarantee prices, both wholesale and retail, equal to any given you by Denver houses. We are sole agents for the celebrated Pine Apple Brand of hams and breakfast bacon, the choicest put up in America.
